Free movie and tv show websites

There used to be a time where I was forced to either hit the cinema to watch movies or to buy them at the store. Not saying that I regretted those times but I am sure grateful that I have more choices now with credit to the convenience of watching to shows, movies, and documentaries but they aren't all worthy of entrusting your data. A few of them are also illegal sites. Today's article presents you a list of the most credible online sources for streaming movies and TV shows in different qualities. The best of them offer subtitles in different languages, light/dark mode, account registration, and a beautiful user interface. They all feature a simple beautiful user interface (except #9 and 10) and a responsive media player with volume, caption, and display settings, links to important pages e.g. privacy policy, and sometimes ads. This list does not include the obvious options like YouTube or Amazon especially since they don't always have the latest movies and TV shows you might be interested in watching. StreamingSites ADVERTISEMENTSStreamingSites is a free resource that lists the best streaming websites where you can watch TV shows, anime, sports, animations, and premium HD movies. It features a beautiful, easy-to-use user interface with the different sites sorted by quality and the developers have made an extra effort to make sure customers enjoy a free, virus-free, and secure streaming TV shows in HD quality. From the homepage, you can select any of the featured TV shows or use its menu to scroll through the timeline page and view shows in order of their release dates. You can select to menu's browse option and then filter show options by their genre. NOXX - Movie & TV Show Streaming Site 2. Vumoo Vumoo is a free movie and TV show streaming website with a minimalist UI. Use it by going to the Movies or TV-Series page, or by using the search field. The developers probably saw no need for a category page given its swift search feature that suggests the currently available titles as you type into the search for watching movies in high definition or low quality as the case may be. You can filter movies by year, genre, rating, release date, or IMDb rating. It displays ads as a method for generating revenue but also gives the option to make donations even with any of 6 cryptocurrencies. LookMovie - Movie & TV Show Streaming Site 4. YesMovies YesMovies is a movie streaming website with a robust filter and categorization feature that works nicely with its dark UI theme albeit with ads.
