Folk music comprises traditional songs that have been handed down from generation and represents a country's heritage. It is often sung and played by musicians who may or may not be trained professionally. Instruments commonly used in the genre include accordions, banjos, and harmonicas. Composers such as Percy Grainger, Zoltan Kodaly, and Bela Bartok were avid collectors of folk songs. Individual songs may not have been written down immediately when first composed, and the author may be lost to time, making for many versions are collected by archivists and historians in the field, such as Alan Lomax in the 1930s and 1940s, and those recordings are released. In many instances, the lyrics to folk songs came from existing nursery rhymes or poems, and some of the nursery rhymes had variations, depending on region or time. different from those you are familiar with. Music education methods such as Orff and Kodaly use folk songs, along with their lyrics and sheet music, for learning along. Alternate versions of the song have different foods for pieces of clothing, such as hat, shoes, pants, and shirt, or instruments he played. There was a man lived in the moon, lived in the moo man lived in the moon, And his name was Aiken Drum. "Alouette" is a French-Canadian folk song about plucking the feathers from a lark after being awakened by its song (like we would threaten a rooster or chicken, before cooking and eating the bird). The French lyrics and English translation follow. Alouette je te plumerai la teteIe (or lovely) LarkLark, I am going to pluck your head,I am going to pluck your head,I am going to pluck your head,And the head,O-o-o-o-oh "A-Tisket A-Tasket" was made in America and used as the foundation for a 1938 Ella Fitzgerald recording. First recorded in the late 19th century, this song has been a children's rhyming game sung while kids danced around in a circle. A-tisket a-tasketA-tisket a-tasketA green and yellow basketI wrote a letter to my loveAnd on the way I dropped it, I dropped Baa Black Sheep" was originally an English nursery rhyme that, in spoken form, may date back as early as 1731. Baa, baa, black sheep, Have you any wool?Yes sir, yes sir, Three bags full. One for the dame, And one for the little boyWho lives down the lane. Oh, give me a home where the buffalo roam, and the deer and the antelope play, Where seldom is heard a discouraging wordAnd the skies are not cloudy all day. Chorus Home, home on the range, Where the deer and the antelope play; Where seldom is heard a discouraging wordAnd the skies are not cloudy all day. Where the air is so pure, the zephyrs so free, The breezes so balmy and light, That I would not exchange my home on the range for all of the cities so bright. The meaning of the song translates to "pop away suddenly." Round and round the cobbler's bench(or all around the mulberry bush) The monkey chased the weasel, The monkey thought 'twas all in funPop! Goes the weasel. A penny for a spool of threadA penny for a needle, That's the way the money goes, Pop! Goes the weasel. "Ring Around the Rosie" first appeared in print in 1881, but it is reported it was already being sung in a version close to its current one in the 1790s. It's likely just an urban legend that it's about the plague; it's more likely that the song was for a "ring game" that children played, as the tune is sung while children hold hands and circle around, then fall to the ground on the last line. Ring around the rosieA pocket full of posies; Ashes All stand still. The King has sent his daughter, To fetch a pail of water; Ashes, Ashes All fall down. Theorized as a song rising out of American minstrelsy, children's song and nursery rhyme "Row Row Your Boat" is often sung as a round and sometimes includes the play action of rowing. The song is from 1852, and the contemporary recording was created in 1881. Row, row, row your boatGently down the stream. Merrily, mer merrily, Life is but a dream. Carl Sandburg published "She'll Be Comin' 'Round the Mountain" in 1927. This traditional folk song is also used as a children's song and originally comes from the Christian song, "When the Chariot Comes." She'll be coming round the mountain when she comesShe'll be c coming round the mountain, she'll be driving six white horses when she comesShe'll be driving six white horses, she'll be driving six white horses, she'll be driving six white horses when she comesShe'll be driving six white horses w song "Skip to My Lou" is said to have been a partner. What'll I do?Lost my partner, What'll I do Lou, my darlin'. "Take Me Out to the Ballgame" was a Tin Pan Alley song from 1908 that later became an anthem sung at baseball games as well as a children's folk song. The lyrics that most people sing as the entire song are actually the chorus of a much longer song. Take me out to the ball game, Take me out with the crowd. Buy me some peanuts and Cracker Jack, I don't care if I never get back, Let me root, r The thought that it was written about three men who tried to plot against Queen Mary may just be a myth, because the earliest published lyrics from 1609 don't have the mice being harmed. Three blind mice, Three blind mice, Three blind mice, Three blind mice, Three blind mice and the second density of the se seeSuch a sight in your lifeAs three blind mice? Popular folk song "Twinkle Little Star" takes its lyrics from a poem by Jane Taylor, which was published in song form in 1806. Twinkle, little star, How I wonder what you are!Up above the world so high, Like a diamond in the sky. When the blazing sun is gone, When he nothing shines upon, Then you show your little light, Twinkle, through the night. Then the traveler in the dark Thank you for your tiny spark; He could not see where to go, If you did not twinkle so. In the dark blue sky, you keep, And often through my curtains peep, For you never shut your eyeTill the sun is in the sky. As your bright and tiny spark Lights the traveler in the dark, Though I know not what you are, Twinkle, twinkle, twinkle, little star.
