Nandamuri balakrishna video song movie.

Languages... Home Bollywood Tamil Telugu Malayalam Kannada ಸಿಂಗರ್ ಸ್ರಾವಣಾ ಭರ್ಗಾವಿ Singer Sravana Bhargavi had used the devotional song 'Okapari Kokapari' by 15th century saint Annamayya, which was seen as offensive by his followers. Flix Controversy Sunday, July 24, 2022 - 11:11A controversy has erupted after popular Telugu singer Sravana Bhargavi uploaded a video, with the devotional song 'Okapari Kokapari' by saint Annamayya in the background. The song, said to be composed by 15th century saint and Lord Venkateshwara devotee Annamayya, plays while Bhargavi is seen reading and being herself in an aesthetically pleasing video. However, the followers of Annamayya took extreme offence against this, claiming that the video 'defiled' the devotional poem or keertana, and that it was being 'appropriated' and 'eroticised'.The backlash prompted Bhargavi to take the video down from her social media accounts. Issuing a statement detailing the reason for her decision, the singer on her Instagram wrote, "My channel has always brought JOY, ENTERTAINMENT, and PEACE to my subscribers. And I don't ever want it to be known for uncalled controversies. Negativity has never been encouraged on any of my social platforms. And I want to keep it that way (sic)." While much of the objection to the video stayed online, however, a group of people filed a police complaint against Bhargavi in Tirupati on July 23, and claimed that they would not let the singer enter the Tirumala temple there. However, the complaint was withdrawn after the singer removed the video online. Bhargavi initially defended her video, reasoning that nothing was objectionable in it. To put across her point, she replaced the audio of the song with different music and titled it 'Perspective is everything'. Earlier, when some claimed that she hurt Hindu sentiments with her video, she was heard arguing with another person, saying, "I am a Hindu, a Brahmin woman. I do not know which part of the video offended you. I will not remove the video. Where is the indecency in it?" In her statement, Bhargavi expressed that hours of work were put into the making of the video and said that it was a "beautiful piece of art." Justifying that her video was not controversial, she said, "When you change the way you look at change. Perspective is everything." Arunank Lathia, a poet and film critic, who has come to the defence of the singer, pointed out how Bhargavi was selectively targeted. "There are many Telugu film songs where the keertanas have been used in a romantic situation. So why is there an outrage only against her?," he said. Giving examples, he says, "'Marugelara O Raghava' is a keertana by carnatic musician Thyagaraja. It was used in the movie Saptapadi in a duet situation. Similarly, 'Samajavaragamana' is another keertana but yet it has been used in films and no one objected to it. So, what is the problem if Bhargavi is using the keertana for her video? Besides, the video is not vulgar as some claim".According to Arunank, the outrage is a case of patriarchy by conservative Brahmins, who, among other reasons, are offended that Bhargavi is not seen wearing a toe ring despite being married. "She is also seen reading Kanyashulkam written by Gurajada Apparao, which is a satire on orthodox Brahmins. Kanyashulkam could have inspired her to remove the toe ring, which has angered some Brahmins," he said. While Annammaya's descendants claim that the keertana is by Annammayya, some scholars contend that this keertana may actually be written by his son Pedda Thirumalaiah. It is allegedly a plot by the TDP, according to Minister Roja. She claimed that the Telugu Desam Party's shady politics have once again come to light. According to Roja, this episode has once again exposed the opposition parties, who have gone in an extreme level to disparage the governing YSRCP. People are keeping an eye on these events, she claimed. According to Minister Roja, the TDP is a bogus propaganda organisation run by Nara Lokesh, the national general secretary of the TDP. They also posted a morphed video as part of it.She remarked, "If the opposition want to defeat the government, they ought to bring a manifesto instead of a morphing footage."All the ladies in the state, according to Roja, stated they consider themselves fortunate to have a compassionate Chief Minister like Jagananna today.Anita, the TDP woman leader, and other women were criticised by Minister RK Roja for holding a round table conference yesterday and calling for the YSRCP government to be suspended. Roja questioned them and inquired as to the precise justifications for the suspension of the government. While highlighting the many welfare measures taken by the Jagan government to address the varied needs of the state's women, Roja made scathing remarks at female politicians of the opposition parties.When the leaders of the opposition YSRCP were protesting abuses under the previous TDP administration, Roja questioned why the leaders of the ruling TDP did not respond. A still from Kesariya. (courtesy: YouTube)New Delhi: The first song from Ayan Mukerji's Brahmastra, titled Kesariya has been trending ever since it released on Sunday. The song, beautifully sung by Arijit Singh, has been picturised on Alia Bhatt and Ranbir Kapoor. The song, largely sung in Hindi, has two English words 'Love Story' in a line. Twitter users shared a couple of memes on how the two words seemed out of place in the otherwise flawless track. "Everything was going good in my life until I heard the word Love Story in Kesariya song," wrote a Twitter user. Another Twitter user compared the bit to Arturo's character from the Netflix show Money Heist.The Tamil and Telugu versions of the film have been sung by Sid Sriram.First, check out the track here:Me listening to the "love story" part of Kesariya:#LoveStorypic.twitter.com/7N1GoU0dxs— Ritvi Singh (@chickenbirryani) July 18, 2022IYKYKJust hopping on the trend#lovestoriya#Kesariyaif you don't love me then you don'tat my deserve me at my pic.twitter.com/6haPnaZpV 07-08-2022 Sun 13:46 Nagaram: YSRCP leader, state Tourism Minister RK Roja reacted on YCP MP Gorantla Madhav's alleged nude video case. Minister Roja said the investigation is going on and will take action against him if once the allegation is proved.
