3 innocent words that turn her on

ENTERTAINMENT Published on October 3rd, 2018 | by sligoadmin Daring experimental scientists from prestigious Harvard university in the US claim they have found a loophole in the female mind that will turn women on at will. Looks They found that certain words and phrases slipped into a conversation can lead to female arousal. A man's looks, height, car or bank balance has nothing to do with it. The boffins in the psychology department have been working on this project for years - some of the research has been at the behest of the CIA. Horny When the techniques were used on test subjects it was discovered that females began displaying numerous signs of arousal. They were also asked if they were 'horny' and they said 'Yes'. Proof indeed if ever it were needed. People SSN can now reveal the findings of the study and allow our readers and followers - our people - access to these words and phrases. All is revealed in a video that is exclusively available to SSN readers. The techniques to covertly hijack a woman's mind, implant feelings of lust, arousal, and feelings of love are now available for the first time in Ireland. There is no question about their effectiveness. If you had the power would you use it? Outraged Feminists are outraged. The scientists wanted to stop us revealing the methods. It's going to cause an uproar the world over. But we've taken an executive decision here at SligoSligoNews that this information should be made available to the public and for free. We can exclusively reveal the secret of this controversial and cutting edge research right now here today in this outrageous and suggestive video. Simply follow the link for all you need to know. Dropping these "7 words that trigger lust in women" into a regular conversation can send your woman's libido soaring - and get her staring at you with that "I want you NOW" look in her eyes.... ..even if she hasn't shown interest in sex for YEARS. Find these 7 phrases in the link below: 7 phrases that ignite lust in a woman (her deepest sexual urges) A subscriber named Warren emailed me recently. Like many of the guys who ask me for advice, he was worried that his sex life was drying up. He was still deeply in love with his wife, yet they hadn't had sex in over 2 years. He'd lost the motivation to even suggest it anymore. Were they deepening the emotional bonds of their relationship with sensual, passionate intimacy every night? Of course not. Most nights, they just sat lifelessly in front of the TV. Here's what I told Warren - and what I tell any guy stuck in a dead bedroom: Not even suggesting sex, and neglecting good small talk, is a common mistake many couples make. I know, I know - small talk can feel awkward sometimes. But I assure you, it definitely isn't. It's a very effective tool for setting the scene before sex, getting your partner excited about the upcoming night of fun. I decided it would help Warren to send him a few subtle phrases that he could mix into his small talk.... ..that were specifically designed to reactivate his wife's libido. And, sure enough, he emailed me a few weeks later.... ..barely able to contain his delight at how his sex life had transformed. The effects had been rapid, to say the least. He excitedly telling me that since he'd started slipping these phrases in conversation.... ..he'd awakened an irresistible, primal sexual craving inside his wife. One he didn't even think existed. They were practically breaking the bed - every night of the week - as she couldn't keep her hands off him. And she'd whispered those soft, seductive words in his ear: "Honey... I've never been so attracted to you." Plus - here's the best part: There's nothing stopping other men from using these simple phrases to reactivate their own partner's sex drive. Even if she hasn't shown a desire for intimacy in YEARS. Here's the set of 7 phrases that Warren used to get his wife BEGGING him for sex every night.... ..Talk soon, Jack PS: 7 Innocent Words That Turn Her On. Trigger The Deepest Sexual Cravings In Your Wife Or Girlfriend Stimulating uncontrollable sexual desire in your partner's mind can be as simple as using the right magic words to attract a woman. But which words? To find out a set of 7 stealth arousal trigger words you can use TONIGHT to make her incredibly horny, take a look at this link: When you say these 7 powerful seductive words, she develops an overwhelming urge for sex with you.... A little while ago, I read a rather surprising study. It turns out that women may be hard-wired to find "sexist" men more desirable. Surprising, no? Here's the logic behind this conclusion. According to research by the University of Kent and Iowa State University, women rated "benevolent sexists" - that is, men who treated women as naturally frailier and more delicate.... ..as more attractive than men who treated them as equals, or men who gave them no special treatment at all. Regardless of any feminist beliefs the women held (or didn't). It's a fascinating discovery - but the attitude goes much deeper than this. Because, whilst mainstream "attraction advice" has undeniably helped millions of men spark attraction.... ..it doesn't always line up with what the science tells us about seduction. Look. Being a "benevolent sexist" is just one approach you can take. It may not feel comfortable for everyone, although it CERTAINLY doesn't mean acting overtly sexist or unpleasant. But the core reason it works applies to all successful seduction: It's a way to use the right kind of language, which taps deep into your partner's deep sexual psychology.... ..renewing her most powerful sexual interest in you. Even if her libido's been quiet for years. And best of all, you can immediately see results when you start using this kind of language. Whether your partner's a busy, successful working woman, has strong feminist ideals... or not. There are obvious body language traits and facial expressions which are simple to see, but given that most of my coaching work is done through Skype and email, it's meant that I've needed to be able to pick up these signals through language. Over the years, I've refined it down to 5 words that I look for in the way a guy speaks that give away that he's still in 'Getting' and will continue to suffer through all the barriers that come from 'Getting' until the issue is fixed. The funny thing is that most guys aren't aware of this. They think they're on the 'Doing' path, powering ahead, and can't understand why they're still keep getting rejected and feeling terrible about it. Little do they know....To save you having to jump on a private coaching call to figure out where you are and what's going on beneath the layers, I've put together the 5 most powerful words I listen for so you can diagnose where you are for yourself.5 Words That Give Away That You're Still 'Getting' These 5 words are presented in no particular order and are all very related. Mostly by the fact that they represent one of the indicators of the 'Getting' pathway. As you're reading through this, think about either the kind of language you use, or the kind of thoughts that run through your head but you never say out aloud, and see where you might fall.1. Can't/Can't' is a BIG indicator. "I can't approach..." "I can't meditate..." "I can't express my sexual desires..."The word 'can't' indicates that you believe there's something other than the decisions you makes, that controls your actions. You 'can't' approach because other people's opinions dictate how he lives his life. You 'can't' meditate because you believe your mental chatter and habits dictate the actions you take. You 'can't' express your sexual desires because your past experiences control your actions. You 'can't' live your life on your terms because external elements dictate how and what you do with your life and all you can do is work within the confines that have been set for you. So what word would you use if you were in 'Doing'? If you're in 'Doing', you'd use: Don't. 'I don't approach...' "I don't meditate..." "I don't express my desires..."Don't' indicates that you are making an active choice over the actions you take as your life isn't controlled by the external environment. You are an active agent that dictates how and when you do what you want to do. You are an empowered Man.2. Try/Try is another fun one. "I'll try to approach..." "I'll try to express myself..." "I'll try to be more focussed..."In a similar vein to 'can't', 'try' indicates that you believe that there is something other than the decisions you make that controls your actions. You will only 'try' if you believe that something could stop you. And you're only going to think that something could stop you if you allow external elements to dictate how you live your life. So what word would you use if you were in 'Doing'? You would use the word: Will. 'I will approach...' "I will express myself..." "I will be more focussed..."Will' demonstrates the belief that you are the only person who controls your actions and you can so choose what you do. Your life isn't dictated by other peoples whims and desires and drives and opinions. It's dictated by your vision and your decisions. NOTE: This obviously only applies to taking action, not creating outcomes. You are only in control of what you do, not how other people respond to your actions.3. Should/I hear this one more than any other. "I should be more assertive..." "I should be approaching more..." "I should be tell her how I feel..."Should' is another indicator that you are in 'Getting'. It shows that you're living your life by a set of rules and ideas rather than finding out what you really want and taking action. If you're using the word 'Should', it shows that you're using ideas and concepts, from AI or any other source, as rules for how to live your life rather than discovering your vision of the life you want and following that. What word would you use if you were in 'Doing'? You would use the word: Want. "I want to be more assertive..." "I want to be approaching more..." "I want to tell her how I feel..."Want' indicates that instead of relying on other peoples perceptions and visions for how you should live your life, you're in touch with your desires and drives. Your life isn't governed by rules, it's governed by desires.4. Truth / FactThis is another very common word, especially from guys who're very deeply ingrained in the Seduction Community. "Women are only attracted to Alpha Males, that's the truth..." "The truth is that I'm too short to attract women..." "It's a known fact that women are only attracted to money" 'Truth' or 'Fact' are another, less obvious indicator that you're in 'Getting'. When you use the word 'Truth', it indicates that you believes the world is a set way. It's a fixed object that you have to navigate your way around. There is no room for flexibility or personal interpretation. This includes your emotional responses to events that happen and the personal limitations you place on yourself. It indicates that he believes that things happen to you and you're not able to create the life you want because life is a fixed entity. What word would you use if you were in 'Doing'? You would use either: 'In my perception...' or 'According to what I currently know...'Either one indicates that you're aware that the world, and your perceived limitations, only exist as a product of your perception and your body of evidence and they can change at any point in time. They indicate that you believe your perceptions aren't in control of you, you're in control of his perceptions and can actively create the life you wants. NOTE: This obviously only applies to personal perceptions rather than scientific fact. "That cupboard is brown" is a statement of fact and can in no circumstances be proven incorrect. "That cupboard is too brown" is a personal opinion and is subject to individual interpretation. NOTE 2: I really don't want to get into an argument about subjective vs. objective reality here. If you want to dig into this, please start a thread on the forum and we can debate it there.5. FairThis is a BIG one. "It's not fair that I was born this short..." "It's not fair that I'm Asian..." "It's not fair that I was raised without a father..."Fair' indicates that you believe that there are things in life that should be given to you, rather than you having to work for things in life. It indicates that you believe life is hard work and frustrating and that other people are responsible for making his life easier for you rather than you having to take action and be responsible for your quality of life. What word would you use if you were in 'Doing'? You would use the word: That's right. It's not a typo. There is actually no word that you would use. When you're in 'Doing', you don't talk about things being fair or unfair. You don't complain about how you missed out or that people don't give you things. You just get on with living your life. You look at where you are, where you wants to be, what you need to do to bridge the gap, and you takes action. That's it. So how do you fix this? There are some self-help people out there who say you should just change your words. You should stop using the disempowering 'Should' and 'Try' and 'Fair' and start replacing them with 'Want' and 'Will' andI disagree. As you can see, the words you're using are a window into what's happening deeper. They're not the cause of your problems, just an indicator that an issue exists. Saying you should just change the words you're using to change from 'Getting' to 'Doing' is like saying that just wash the blood off your leg to fix the bullet wound. It's treating the symptoms, not the cause. If you want to deal with the real issue, you need to dig to the core. So how do you do that? The reason you're following one pathway or another is because of who you believe is responsible for your life, how you live it, and how you experience it. This is what has to change. This is the core. And until it changes, you'll keep running into the same barriers. There are a few steps to this. The First StepThe first step in changing this is getting a logical understanding of the different ways you can see and experience the world and who's really in control. Unless you can see what's going on in its entirety, then when you try and fix the issue, you're going to miss parts. This takes quite a bit of theoretical understanding and personal awareness. It's not just a matter of reading a few paragraphs and your life will change, there are subtle intricacies that you need to get before this will make sure. The Second StepThe second step is taking that information and applying it to the problems, barriers and challenges you face in your life. This is the harder part because it requires a deep level of self-awareness and honesty, which can be scary. If you want to try taking this on by yourself, the way you do it is by looking at the issues you've faced, what you contributed - your drives, motivations, and focus - and how they all contributed to the outcome (both in terms of actions and experience). Yes, this is a piss poor explanation, but that's because this process takes more than just reading a few paragraphs on a blog post. Discovering just how you're creating your experience of life and what you have to do to change it takes time, understanding, and a level of self-awareness that doesn't just happen overnight. That's why the shortest AI coaching program is 7 days long and the longest is over 3 months. In Conclusion...The words you use are a window deeper into how you live your life and what's really going on beneath the layers. They can show you just how you live your life, what's really meaningful to you, and most importantly, which pathway you're really following (despite what you tell yourself). So, which words are you using and what do they say about how you live your life? Share your words below. ——— Getting: The underlying mindset that the world is responsible for how I live my life and how I feel and in order to feel strong, confident, and certain about my life, I need to 'get' things from the world around me. Doing: The underlying mindset that I am responsible for how I live my life and how I feel and in order to feel strong, confident, and certainty about my life, I need to 'do' things and take action, regardless of how the world responds to me. ——— innocent words to turn her on. 3 innocent questions to turn her on. 7 innocent words that turn her on. innocent words that turn guys on
