The stairs to Northwind Mine are at the northeast end of the ridge. Regardless of Dragon Rising to have been completed, the word wall is against the mountain, with the boss's chest just in front. Northwest of Shorâ €™ s Stone Dragon (Level) Skeletons (if dragon rising is not completed) Location ID Southwest of C Cavern Slane in Rift. To access the ridge, you can travel by the north wind mine, located on the north side of the mountain, or climb it, starting on Shor's stone and going just a little to the south, down the way to see a slightly steeper incline from the mountain to the right. If Dragonborn is in the hut with the chest adept-closed as the dragon is landing, they can get stuck inside the mountain. The rocks in front of the first building can be used as cover with the same tactics. If this wall wall is found before Arcwind Point, then once the varied mission of the place is given, there may be no more missions of this type of argeir. This will make it impossible to get your soul or any serve that may be carrying. Notes [edit] A Moonstone minute vein is located above the Northwind Mine entrance. Sometimes when the Crash-Lands dragon, he can land inside the mountain. The Appearance[] The Elder Scrolls V: Skyrim - the Uespwiki - Your source for The Elder Scrolls Since 1995 Northwind Summit is a dragon lair at the top of a mountain on the border between Eastmarch and Rift. After the return of the dragons, the word wall will be stored by a level dragon. They will also take the word wall failure in Valthume and / or Volumruud if the Greybeards still say that is a word there. In this way, it is easy to defeat any dragon or part of Dragon, their spells are timed correctly. Strangely, the blood of the previous fight can be visible. The only way to resolve this is to reload save. The chest is still accessible, but the skeleton inside is constantly moving and making a rattling sound. A APCÀ AA A if the Dragonborn is killed, the dragon will be invisible once the Dragonborn respawns. The summit is an abandoned mammoth hunter's camp with three dilapidated structures and mammoth skeletons scattered around. To fight the dragon here, it is best to use the trapdoor bug while dual-wielding a bow and the trapdoor bug. It is possible to resolve this glitch by fast traveling to the base of the mountain and then back to the location. If the bug is still on the player, please switch the base with the appropriate trapdoor bug.

It can be reached by going through Northwind Mine or by going northwest of Shor's Stone and climbing to the peak of the nearby mountain. The lair is located a short distance northwest of Shor's Stone, northwest of Riften, and far south of Windhelm, on the highest point in the Rift. Strategy[] As the dragon perched upon the word wall may be asleep, it is possible to kill it instantly with a dagger sneak attack to its exposed tail, provided the Dragonborn has the appropriate gear and perks. A Another strategy is to simply use the second building (to the right of the word wall) as cover to conjure an atronach while repeatedly using a bow.
