At the same time that the Walt Disney Company launches a new Video on Demand service in Europe, it confirmed that its existing American VOD service, Disney Movies Online, is to close for business at the end of the year. Mixed messages, or a sign that Disney is taking Video on demand more seriously than it was used? Disney announced a new partnership with the Spanish company Wuaki.tv yesterday that will give subscribers of the latter what was described as “a selection of some of the world’s most beloved Disney films and Disney/Pixar” under the title umbrella Disney Movies on Demand. According to Walt Disney’s manager Spain and Portugal Simon Anselem, “Launching a Disney brand SVOD movie library service in Spain is a logical next step in our distribution strategy, completing our existing agreements with other broadcasters and linear and non-linear platforms,” with the CEO of Wukai.tv Jacinto Roca who describes the partnership as “in line with the priority of Wuaki best distribution.tv The partnership with Wuaki.tv is Disney’s second such deal recently, following a similar agreement with Zon in Portugal. Here in the United States, however, you might be forgiven for thinking that Disney was moving away from VOD space with the December closure of its three-year Disney Movies Online service, which allowed customers to buy or transmit Disney content and Pixar online. Initially trepeated as a voice, confirmation came in the form of a message that appeared on the Disney Movies Online site, telling customers that the site will close on December 31, even if purchases, updates and “Settings of the Magic Code” have already been disabled in advance of closing (refunds can be requested by email, explained for those who wanted them). In a closing statement, Disney explained that “The digital environment is rapidly evolving, and Disney Movies Online does not have the flexibility that many users today require. We made a business decision to close the service until we are able to provide greater value and experience to our customers.” The company is already working on replacing the service, which is currently called Disney Movies Anywhere, although sources tell the Hollywood Reporter that closing Disney Movies Online should not be taken as a sign that Disney Movies Anywhere is necessarily anywhere near the launch. One of the changes between the two services is that DMA is expected to include more devices in its streaming package, unlike DMO’s reliance on a web browser, although it may also be worth considering the possibility for DMA to offer more than Disney or Pixar-branded entertainment. After all, Disney now owns both Marvel and Lucasfilm, and bothbe a right to sign up for many people. . Publishers Yesterday, Disney CEO Bob Iger announced that the hackers had stolen one of the studio’s upcoming releases and demanded a ransom or something. Now comes the news that the stolen movie was Pirates of the Caribbean: Dead Men Tell No Tales. Why of course was. Looking for a quick way to make an animation movie online? If you want to create one of those beautiful cartoon-looking presentations where everything is animated, text flies across the screen, etc., then you have a couple of cool online tools that can get the job done. In this article, I’ll tell you about two online tools I’ve used, PowToon and Animatron, which allow you to easily create slideshows and animated movies. Both services have free versions with some limitations such as just being able to share the presentation online and not being able to remove the watermark and outro from the final presentation. If you are going to use these tools professionally, you can examine the paid options and they remove these restrictions and give them more functionality. There are many free software animation tools out there, but these usually come with a fairly high learning curve due to their advanced tools and feature sets. You can learn how to use these two online tools in a few hours. PowToon PowToon will allow you to create up to 5 minutes of free movie that you can publish online on their website or up to YouTube. You need to register with PowToon to start using the tool, but it’s free. Once logged in, click Create at the top and choose from Start from Scratch or Customize a ready-made PowToon. The customization option is nice because it gives you a lot of ready themes and patterns that you start the movie with. I also recommended using a pre-packaged template because it includes multiple slides, objects, transitions, etc., so you can see exactly how the elements are added, controlled and manipulated on the canvas. When the main interface loads, you will be presented with a short tutorial on how to navigate. Fortunately, it is very similar to tools like PowerPoint, so the learning curve is low. On the left are the slides, on the right the library of objects that you can add to the slides, at the bottom the timeline and at the top you can check the project settings. To get started, you can add objects from the right panel. These include text effects, image media, characters, animations, props, backgrounds, shapes, markers, action buttons, and transitions. Transitions can only be added when you have more than one slide. For everything else, just click on it and the item will appear on the canvas. You’ll see it at the bottom of the timeline. You can adjust the input and output effect for each object and the time on the canvas by clicking the object in the timeline. PowToon is simple enough to use, but it can create complex animations. Mostly it takes time to get used to the timeline andyour items properly. They also have several tutorials on their website to help you learn the features faster. You can also upload your own images, sounds and videos in addition to the resources they have in their library. You’ll also notice that a lot of stuff they have says Premium, which means you can only use it if you upgrade to their paid plans. Overall, it works very well, is easy to use and costs nothing to create short videos that you might want to share with friends or family. Animatron Animatron is similar to PowToon, but has some more advanced features. Animatron also has a free version and a couple of paid plans. The interface of Animatron is more similar to that of Photoshop than PowerPoint. If you want to have more control over the objects on the canvas, Animatron is the best choice. One of the main reasons to go with Animatron is that all animation is done using HTML5. This means that viewers do not need to have Flash installed on their system, unlike PowToon. Another interesting thing about Animatron is that everything is a vector object and can therefore be resized and animated without becoming grainy. You can also draw freely and it will allow you to instantly animate the object as vector graphics. As you can see from the top, the tools are all on the left side and at the bottom is the timeline, but each object has its own level. With levels, you can make animations much more advanced than PowToon. Another advanced feature is the ability to add keyframes to change the path and size of an object. Animatron also has a good library of vector images, wallpapers and objects you can add to your canvas. A lot require a paid package, but there are a fair number of free items too. You will also need to register with Animatron to use all the free resources. They also have a tutorial section with lots of videos. Overall, these two online tools are the best way to quickly create animated movies or presentations without having to spend a large amount of time. Have fun!
