Among Us has defied the odds and has skyrocketed in popularity. The game was relatively unknown when it was originally released back in 2018 but has since seen a major boost in its player base, thanks to the help of some viral streamers. In Among Us, up to 10 players have to work together to complete tasks found around the map, all while avoiding the Impostors lurking in the shadows, plotting the deaths of the crew. It's an engaging social deduction game that is available on PC, Android, and iOS. After exploring the game's three levels, you might be asking for more ways to play. Well, the good news is that games can be customized to your liking. Not happy with the recommended settings? Swap them to our suggested settings or get creative with some of these custom settings put together by fans of the game. Make it a horror movie! Source: Android Central / Zackery Cuevas (Image credit: Source: Android Central / Zackery Cuevas) An alien lurking in the shadows trying to kill the crew - sounds like the makings of a horror movie, right? Well, to turn your game into a bona-fide monster movie, try these settings: NameRecommended SettingMapThe SkeldNumber of Imposters1Confirm EjectsEnableNumber of Emergency Meetings0Emergency Cooldown60 secondsDiscussion Time15 secondsVoting Time15 secondsPlayer Speed1.5xCrewmate Vision2xImposter Vision0.5xKill Cooldown10 secondsVisual Tasks0Common Task0Long Task0Short Task5 The key to making this game mode work is to agree to not report bodies or call an emergency meeting. If you are using voice chat with your friends, agree to mute your mic if you're dead and only communicate with other dead folks through the in-game chat. If you just witnessed a brutal murder, though, tell your friends! Imposters should refrain from sabotaging anything except the doors. That'll up the game's tension significantly as players scramble to escape the clutches of their soon-to-be killer. Just a little game of Hide and Seek! Source: Android Central / Zackery Cuevas (Image credit: Source: Android Central / Zackery Cuevas) This game mode has been put together by fans who enjoy the chase. For a rousing game of Hide and Seek, try these settings: NameRecommended SettingMapThe SkeldNumber of Imposters1Confirm EjectsEnableNumber of Emergency Meetings0Emergency Cooldown60 secondsDiscussion Time15 secondsVoting Time15 secondsPlayer Speed1.5xCrewmate Vision0.5xKill Cooldown10 secondsVisual Tasks0Common Task0Long Task0Short Task5 The Imposter should announce who they are at the start of the match. The Imposter can see each other, but the cool cooldown is very worth it. Players need to complete their tasks quickly as possible and avoid getting tagged. You won't want to kill off, but you can maim bodies. Doing so, however, will bring the Imposter to you, so watch out. Make the most of it! Feeling frayed? Innersloth (Image credit: Source: Innersloth) Feeling Hide and Seek burnout? Want to take things to another level? Try Practice mode. Once the time is up, the Imposter gets out to kill them before they finish their tasks. Communication is not the be-all and end-all of this game. To make things even more suspenseful, Impostors can sabotage communications and lights, but the Crewmates are not allowed to fix it. Step into the Gauntlet mode. In this mode, Players stay at the spawn and elect one Crewmate and one Imposter to run the gauntlet. The Crewmate takes the lead first, and after about 15 seconds, the Imposter follows. The Crewmate needs to finish their tasks and not get caught by the Imposter. Once the Crewmate is done with their work, they must scramble back and call an Emergency Meeting to claim victory. If the Crewmate makes it back unscathed, then the group votes off the Imposter. Murder, she wrote. It puts the spotlight directly on the person who discovered the body, and they can potentially lead the crew to victory or accidentally play into the Imposter's hand. Make some small talk! Source: Android Central / Zackery Cuevas (Image credit: Source: Android Central / Zackery Cuevas) The custom game mode Small Talk can be played under any conditions, and the rules are quite simple. Players play as they normally would, but once a body has been discovered or an emergency meeting has been called, players can only speak using five words. If they say more than five, they get voted off. No questions asked. Pick your poison! Among Us has quickly become a party favorite, thanks to its availability and addictive gameplay. These are just a couple of great games that the community has created, but I'm sure there will be even more creative ways to play as the game matures. Be sure to make adjustments to the settings depending on the level you're playing on or who you're playing with. Are there any custom games you like to play? Let us know in the comments.
